The tax suit of Humboldt vs. Lander county, which had been in the courts for several years has been compromised by the Lander Commissioners paying over to the Humboldt Board the sum of $1,104.

The money resulting from the performance for the benefit of the late Cecil Loughran, amounting to something over $200, has been turned over to Mrs. Loughran.

The motto of the Douglas county farmer, "use home productions for home consumption and market the surplus products," is making Carson valley one of the richest little agricultural communities in the west.

News of Nevada's Leading Industry Clipped From Sagebrush Exchanges.

LEASING THE PUBLIC LANDS.

The bill lately introduced in the House of Representatives providing for leasing the public domain in the arid mountain regions of the West is a measure peculiar to the present rich man's Congress. The interests representing money are the only matters entitled to consideration in the legislature of the nation, or that at any time in the future will receive attention should the people continue the capitalized combinations to control legislation as they now do. Leasing the public domain is intended to deprive small stock holders of any right to the ranges made up of the public lands.

The poor man and his family must be driven out to make room for the enlarged stock interests that have grown to their present proportions by grazing the public lands. There is not any measure that will oppress the individual citizen who depends upon his personal industry for a support, that is not assailed by the rich man's Congress, and it has become part of the work to strike down every interest from which the individual citizen derives a support.

Pasture upon our public lands has been one of the chief means that furnished the people in the country engaged in agriculture a support. It has aided the pioneer to procure a living when he could not have otherwise procured a subsistence. It has been the chief means that aided in reclaiming the wilderness and in subduing nature to the dominion of man. From which dominion has come all there is great and grand in the republic. Leasing the public lands is a device of the large cattle interests to control the public domain at a nominal rent in order to make money more rapidly at the expense of the poor citizen, as all these combinations are made and fostered by crushing the poor and their rights.

We challenge a world and particularly the United States and the State of Nevada to furnish an instance when the expansion of capitalized interests connected with control has not been made at a cost to the poor in rights and in means to procure a livelihood.

The bill in question is intended to give expansion to the cattle grazing interests coupled with control of the public domain, which will deprive thousands of the means by which they are now procuring a support, but the result is not a matter that demands attention so much, as the cold blooded intent to rob the poor there is included in the work of making the public domain the possession of a few.

The character of intention mentioned is not connected only with the movement to appropriate the use of the public lands by a few who have money, but it is connected with all movements made by organized capitalized interests. In the effort to control the public domain by the large cattle interests, capital is represented by individuals who agree that the interests of capital they represent demand recognition by the rich man's Congress.

The stock interests are not the only interests which will suffer from the change intended in the condition of the public domain, as all interests in the mountain west are involved. The only permanent interest in our State, arid as it is, are its agricultural industries, and whatever interference with these interests has damaging effect upon the general business of the country.

Leasing the public domain means a withdrawal of all public lands from settlement, and that means a suspension of progress and a suspension of any increase in business. It is an equivalent to fencing in the country from the outside world and declaring a suspension of development of the mountain States.

It will be claimed that agricultural lands will not be included, which is a sup given to the weak. The State of Nevada is new in development because of the crushing conditions that have been imposed upon it by organized capital, and those who in the future will enter upon new lands to develop them will require a range to aid them in the first years of their efforts at home making; but the leasing process will close range rights, which will deprive the new home makers of one of the chief means for support during the early years of work to develop a home.

There is another matter that may be considered in connection with leasing the public lands, which is irrigation; the stimulus to work for increased facilities for home making by the storage of storm waters will receive a check, as the natural conditions of the country will be largely controlled, which will have much to do to prevent home-making, which will as a consequence injure efforts for storage of water and the application of other means to supply water for irrigation.

The real relation that the leased lands in the State will sustain to the business and other industrial interests in the State will be the relation of graveyards for the living. The stillness of death will be upon the larger part of the State and upon its present and future industries.

Will the people act in the defense of their natural rights as American citizens by calling meetings to protest against this iniquity of organized capital? It may be, if they are as vigilant as the cattle barons are, that they will be able to call a halt in the present Congress. Doubtful though it may be, try to defend the rights that God and nature have given you as American citizens against the all absorbing cattle owners in our valleys and mountains, as it is very evident they want all there is in their line of business, to the exclusion of the rights of all other citizens to the public domain.

Joaquin Miller.

The noted poet, author, miner and lecturer, Joaquin Miller, spoke in Reno to a crowded house last evening. The audience overtaxed the capacity of the house, as seats enough for all could not be got in.

Mr. Miller proved a surprise to most of our people, who expected to see a curiosity only, for he proved a most eloquent and entertaining speaker. He gave most beautiful gems of thought set in blocks of most interesting fact, culled from the four corners of the globe. Interspersed with these were quotations from his own poetry, recited with a pathos and rhythm that charmed his auditors and called forth their hearty applause.

The Burglary Case.

At 10 o'clock this morning District Judge Corlier will render an opinion on the motion made to set aside the indictment against Simas on account of an alleged illegally drawn jury.

The Engineer's Story.
"To the eye, a man—perhaps that's the only thing of all that shakes me. To see him on the track within 10 or 20 feet of you, to know that you can't stop to save him, to feel the wheels of the engine go over his body, crunching out his life—a man doesn't want to experience that more than once in a lifetime."
"It's worse with a child. There was an old mate of mine in the west when I was riding in the Union Pacific—never mind his name; he's dead now—as good an engineer as ever stood in a box, cool, nerve like steel, had been through three wrecks, a holdup and a fire. Well, one day Jim was a little behind his schedule and made like anything for the next stop. There was a crossing right in front of him. He saw that everything was clear, as he thought, and went right ahead, when all at once out of a clump of trees there ran a little golden haired fairy right in front of the engine. It was all over in one instant, and when the train stopped Jim dropped like a log. It was two months before he crept back again to work. But he could never come to that crossing but he saw the little girl with her hair fluttering in the wind running out from the trees. And one day he just got off his engine, turned it over to the second man and walked away, never to be seen again until his body was found in the river."—Leslie's Weekly.

It is used in many thousands of homes in this broad land and never disappoints the anxious mother. We have yet to learn of a single instance in which it has not proved effectual. # Distressing Accident.

Maud Sparks Seriously Injured while Golfing.

A sad accident occurred at the Sparks' ranch yesterday afternoon. Miss Maud Sparks received a dangerous wound on the face.

She and a guest from San Francisco were golfing on the grounds near the house. The guest essayed a drive and the unfortunate young lady came too near to watch the play. The guest, not knowing of her approach, struck her a terrible blow with his club.

She fell to the ground unconscious, with a gaping wound across her cheek, nose and forehead. The young man, made frantic by the accident, might have ended his own life if he had not been restrained.

The unfortunate young lady was taken to San Francisco last night in order that she might receive the best possible surgical aid. Miss Sparks is a strikingly beautiful girl and her host of friends will anxiously await the verdict of her physicians as to the outcome from the injury.

Address by Mr. Norcross.

Frank H. Norcross delivered the general assembly address at the University yesterday morning. His theme was "The Position of Nevada Among the Sisterhood of States." Following is a brief synopsis of his remarks:

The East always has and does now give a black eye to the Sagebrush State. Here is a sample: It was published not long ago in the Chicago Tribune: "The silver mines which made Nevada what she is have long been exhausted. She has no other mineral wealth. She has no agricultural resources. She has nothing to attract people, and, as a consequence, her light of existence is fast flickering out."

Volumes of libelous and silly stuff like the above are laid before the Eastern readers every year. This persecution is largely caused by the position taken by our senators when sectional measures are before the upper law-making body. These two men, with a constituency of fifty thousand, have the same voting power as senators from States having a population of upwards of five million.

There is no danger, as the Constitution of the United States now stands, of statehood being taken from Nevada. We owe no apology to the balance of the Union for exercising our prerogatives. The circumstances attending the admission of Nevada will always give her standing among the States.

Nevada is not retrograding. In the matter of material wealth she stands higher than when admitted. Today she has nearly a thousand miles of railroad. She has six million acres of magnificent soil. Her agricultural, mining and stock raising industries are a source of great and permanent wealth.

In the matter of educational institutions Nevada occupies a position in the front rank. The State is maintaining its existence and giving a splendid account of itself without the help of the government, having no navigable rivers to be dredged and no harbors to maintain. The State is a help to, rather than a burden upon her sisters.

A Prosperous Business.

Harry L. McDuffee has a new advertisement in another column calling attention to his fine line of tailorings.

Since moving to his new rooms in the Quinn building Harry has been adding to his force of tailors until now he has six employed. A short while ago he was compelled to enlarge his place and now occupies one half of the entire floor.

Cruel Persecution.

The JOURNAL is deeply grieved to learn that there is a spirit upon the part of some residents of this city to persecute and ostracize N. O. Hammer-smith and household because of the crime committed by a member of the family. It cannot be that any self respecting person is party to such a scheme.

Card of Thanks.

We desire to thank all the kind neighbors and friends who so kindly offered their assistance and sympathies during the sickness and death of our darling boy.

The War in Africa.

This evening a meeting of the Philomathean Society will be held. A nice program has been prepared. There will be a debate, the subject of which will be, "Resolved, that England is justified in her war against the Boers." Miss Beth Stubbs, P. McCorran and

Reno Will Be Passed By.

The following interview with H. E. Huntington, corroboratory of the one published yesterday in the JOURNAL's telegraphic columns, appeared in the Examiner that arrived last evening:

"The Carson and Colorado railroad has been purchased in order to form a cut-off overland line between southern California and the east by the way of Ogden, and also to develop the section of the State tributary to it," said H. E. Huntington. "The gap between Keeler and Mojave will be filled in. From the northern end of the Carson and Colorado a cut-off will be built to a point on the Central Pacific east of Reno, probably Wadsworth. Grades will be reduced as much as possible and the line thoroughly ballasted. The expensively operated and time consuming grades of the Sierra Nevada mountains will be avoided by this route." All grades on the Central Pacific east of Wadsworth will be reduced to one per cent. We are making surveys in Nevada and Utah to see if the Central Pacific cannot be shortened by building one or more cut-offs."

Fighting for Water.

The case of Capurro vs. Loughton pursued the even tenor of its way in the District Court yesterday. The action was brought to determine the right to use a portion of the water in the Loughton springs ditch.

There is a nice bunch of Washoe lake ducks hanging in the show window at the Washoe Lunch counter. This establishment knows how to serve game.

If you want saddlery that is right come to GEO. W. AYERS

For a number of years there have been several harness makers claiming to be saddlers in Washoe county. There has not been a practical saddler at the head of any of them. They have carried a stock of fair appearance high price and cheap quality. When you gave them a difficult order they were forced to send it away to have filled. In the future I invite you to place a trial order with me. I do not believe in self praise, but will let my reputation as a saddler depend on your judgment after inspecting my work. As to experience I have been employed in all the leading saddleries of the United States. I WILL GUARANTEE ALL WORK ENTRUSTED TO ME AT PRICES TEN PER CENT LOWER THAN THOSE WHO CLAIM TO BE COMPETITORS. I have no equals in saddle work in Washoe county. I will place a forfeit that my cowboy outfits or vaquero saddles cannot be duplicated in the State of Nevada. Yours for friendship and trade,

INTERVIEW WITH THE POET

Joaquin Miller Expresses His Opinion of the Future for Nevada.

"These blue hills reaching up into the blue sky, and these free, boundless plains of Nevada constitute the new promised land. I have tramped over the Holy Land, and I have studied it and its people. There is a strong resemblance, a coincidence, between this and that."

Thus spoke Joaquin Miller, the
"Poet of the Sierras."

"The people of Nevada are like the children of Israel, who emigrated from the country of bondage to the land of promise. Like the emigrants of half a century ago they scaled the mountains, traversed the plains and hewed their way through the forest.

"The people of Nevada have the blood and spine which make strong men. They are the sons of men who were not satisfied with galling conditions when a great free world lay in the west. Some day—a generation or two hence—this blood will more largely evidence itself. There will be artists, sculptors and poets on these plains,
the like of which has never been and never will be in the Mississippi valley.

"Environment and heredity are the two factors which make or unmake the aspirant for distinction in the fine arts.

"You ask, 'Am I favorably impressed with the future of the Sagebrush State?' I can easily answer that question by saying that I spent several hours yesterday in the Land office. I want to own a little land in Nevada because I believe there is a coming greatness for the State. Irrigation will make the arid soils produce abundantly.

"Water storage will soon be introduced and it will be the savior of the State. I vividly remember looking down on the City of Mexico from the heights of Zacatecas. Here and there were azure lakes glittering in the sun.
They were made 'not by the sport of nature, but of man.' Ages ago, probably before the Spaniard came, there were built crescent-shaped dams in the depressions of the hills. The water stored there in the season of rain is utilized when the land is parched by the dry heat of summer.

"Nevada has greater opportunities for water storage than the Republic of Mexico. The configuration of the country in the Sierras lends itself to a project of this sort."

Cold Steel or Death.

"There is but one small chance to save your life and that is through an operation," was the awful prospect set before Mrs. L. B. Hunt, of Lime Ridge, Wis., by her doctor after vainly trying to cure her frightful case of stomach trouble and yellow jaundice. He didn't count on the marvellous power of Electric Bitters to cure stomach
and liver troubles, but she heard of it, took seven bottles, was wholly cured, avoided surgeon's knife, now weighs more and feels better than ever. It is positively guaranteed to cure Stomach, Liver and Kidney troubles and never disappoints. Price 50 cents at
